John Gardner impressed us immensely when he visited us last year, with his stunning show of local and European wildlife. So bowled over were we with his work that we have asked him back again this year to present his new work.

"Another Day At The Office" is a look at the different photographic genres he covers as a professional photographer. The talk should have something for everyone with digital images covering wildlife, commercial, wedding, portrait and studio and maybe even a few steam trains!

John will discuss the techniques behind the images and what equipment was used to capture the shot.

This is a lecture not to be missed!
