Tesni Ward's entry into the world of professional photography has been exceptionally rapid, and she has swiftly earned herself a remarkable reputation as one of the foremost Landscape and Natural History photographers in the country. Based in the Peak District National Park, Tesni regularly runs workshops and tours, not only to help others capture beautiful images and teach individuals the art of photography but also to give them the opportunity to experience how magical the natural world is.

Disappointment and exhilaration in equal measure are universal aspects of Wildlife Photography, and this talk will highlight how challenging yet rewarding wildlife photography is, and how it will push you to your limits and test even the most determined of individuals.

Having a thorough understanding of modern photographic essentials, she will be enriching her talk by giving us an insight into the extraordinary techniques and skills she uses to achieve her images.
